NESAY updates

Hi Friends,
Well to say that the world has changed since the launch of Friends of NESAY would be an understatement. For some of us this pandemic has resulted in income and cash flow stress and changing in employment. For our young people, this has also created other stresses too - such as housing stress/ homelessness, family violence and on line learning requirements (which is challenging for many).

Our team has been working from home now for the past 7 weeks which has created some logistical changes in providing case management support via phone and other forms of technology. We have found our young people to be incredibly adaptable and understanding through this period - they really never cease to inspire. Demand for our services is also growing during this period. Over the past month the referrals are spiking with no signs of reducing.

Finally, I want to take this opportunity again thank you for signing our Pledge of Commitment and demonstrating your care and commitment to young people in our community. TOGETHER WE CAN CREATE CHANGE to reduce and prevent youth homelessness in our community.

Leah Waring (CEO, NESAY)

Friends honour board

To acknowledge and highlight the commitment of our Friends, we will be creating an honour board.

This board will be designed and made by young people, with the assistance of local artists.

The honour board will list all our Friends and be located at the NESAY home.

This will be recommenced when it is safe to bring groups of people together to work on this project.

Questions

If you ever have any questions about the work we do at NESAY please feel free to call us. Our Friends are always welcome at the NESAY home so please drop by some time to see the awesome work NESAY staff do on a daily basis.

Our launch event

On the 14th February we gathered together at the NESAY home to launch Friends of NESAY.

We had over 40 people attend the morning tea to join us in celebrating our young people and confirming our joint commitments to them.
